Forecast for Friday 22 Oct 2021

Weather: Some heavier showers in the early hours over the Aberdeenshire Hills with a few lighter showers elsewhere, snow above 900m. The showers becoming isolated by dawn. A generally dry day with some sunny spells and occasional cloud. There is just the small chance of a brief light shower at first, wintry on the summits.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 70% in early hours, 90% or more by afternoon, 70% by midnight.

Visibility: Occasionally poor in any heavier showers in early hours. By day very good with cloud above most of the summits, perhaps a little patchy cloud on the highest 1100m tops in the west in the morning, and again late evening.
